

Engineering HD Streaming Solutions for a Multi-National Law Firm

A law firm with offices in the US, Asia, and Europe reached out to AbelCine with specific streaming needs for their year-end meeting: high-quality video and rock-solid connectivity. The event, with over 350 participants, would take place virtually in 2020.

AbelCine worked closely with Rob Fortunato, an Emmy-winning DP, whose company offers full-scale production crews. Fortunato says, “When navigating the new COVID-19 production territory, you need like-minded problem solvers able to see the big picture. AbelCine’s team created a workflow that effectively merged my production team with their integrated virtual broadcast. We were able to very successfully engage our 350+ global audience for the three-day production.”

AbelCine’s Integration and Rental teams built an AV infrastructure around the TriCaster Mini 4K, Sony OLED monitors, BirdDog NDI module, and the TVU One and TVUPack. Drop kits were also created around Sony RXOs and Canon 5D Mark IVs for remote interviews. The TVU One, a live video transmitter that can aggregate up to 12 data connections, allowed for effortless streaming from within a high-rise building. With the strong collaboration between AbelCine’s Integration and Rental teams, along with the production know-how of Rob Fortunato’s company, the firm’s meeting was executed successfully.
